Summer 2018

Welcome to the Summer Owl Car!

— Steve Miazga

While our railroad modeling may go into slow gear during the summer months, our interests in railroading still remain. Whether it be rail-fanning, museum visits, excursion rides or train shows, there is plenty to do year round and that created the vision for this special edition. Our format is all electronic so you are either receiving this via an e-mail link or are visiting our website. No print edition is available.

Most of the content in this issue is informational and does not follow our normal format. This is being produced for our members as a resource for upcoming events and summer activities. So we hope you find value in the content. Some of the flyer materials were submitted by their respective sponsors and are produced without any cost to them. Two highlights are a listing of all known Midwest train shows until 2020 and a great computer tune-up article courtesy of our Paymaster.

As we look to the Summer 2019 Owl Car, we ask you to consider submitting materials for that issue. So if you are part of a railroad related organization and have public events to highlight for next year, please let us know. Flyer artwork in "JPG" format is really appreciated and makes our work a lot easier.

If you have any comments, positive or negative, please e-mail them to our Superintendent, Pete Lakatos. His contact information can be found on Page 5 of this issue.

Take to the Trails... Not the Rails

The annual WISE Bike Ride is planned for August 12th this year with a start time of 4 pm. We will be riding on the Hank Aaron State Trail. The trail is located in the Menominee River Valley and runs along the old Milwaukee Road yard tracks and takes the old right-of-way west to 123rd Street (due to the Zoo reconstruction, the trail is closed at 94th Place). Food and refreshments are on your own.

We will start at the Milwaukee County Domes parking lot and continue on the Hank Aaron State Trail with stops where the old Milwaukee Road shops were located, Motor Restaurant and Purple Door ice cream. Since the CP yard is located in that area, I'm sure there will be some rail-fan opportunities as well!

For those who are concerned about hills, The trail does have a 3% uphill grade that starts just west side of the Miller park freeway and it can be avoided.

For more information about the trail or to download a map, go to <http://www.hankaaronstatetrail.org>. (Note: a State Trail Pass is not needed for the Hank Aaron State Trail.)

Celebrate the Great Northern at Trainfest

The Great Northern will be the featured railroad for Trainfest 2018. Here is a sneak preview of the model car that is being produced for the show. As last year, the HO model is being produced by AccuRail and the N Scale version by MicroTrains. Only one car number is planned and that is GN 18337. This was a unique test paint version and very few were produced for the prototype. Discounted pricing on these models will be available at Trainfest for attendees.

How to Keep Your PC Running Smoothly

Published 03/03/2015 |

The desire to keep your PC running smoothly is not an unreasonable one. Most everyone remembers the awesome speed they experienced when their laptop or desktop PC was brand new. However, it seems inevitable that after several months, PC performance begins to degrade and everything slows down. Logging on takes longer, files open up slowly, and even the internet browser opens and operates terribly slow. Did you know that it's possible to keep your PC running fast by exercising some simple preventative measures?

What Makes your Laptop or PC Run Slowly?

One major culprit that will quickly diminish the speed and performance of any laptop or desktop PC is unnecessary software or applications. Most of the common unwanted software programs, otherwise known as "Bloatware" or bloated software. These programs are introduced to your PC during the upgrade process of essential programs that are already installed on your system. Most software requires periodic updates, and in many instances bloatware programs are bundled together with otherwise trusted and reputable program updates. In most cases it is during this otherwise routine upgrade process that unknown software is downloaded and installed on your laptop or PC.

In 99% of software upgrade instances, the option to "decline" any bundled programs is available. However, many times people quickly click through the upgrade process without paying close attention and they miss the option to exclude it. The unwanted software application often runs silently and unnoticed, robbing your PC of processor performance. It doesn't take long before unwanted bloatware will overwhelm your system, resulting in very poor performance and frustration to the end-user.

Identifying Unwanted Software before it's Installed

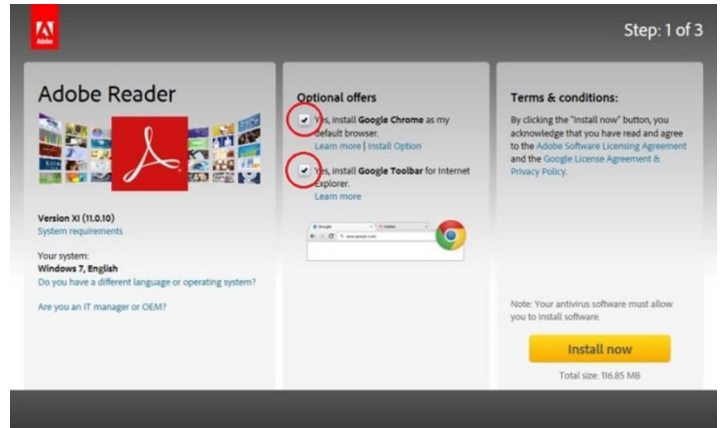

One familiar software program that has bundled software included in their upgrades is Adobe Reader[®] and Adobe Flashplayer[®]. These bundled software applications are not a virus or malware, but often times they may unnecessarily rob your PC of precious resources. Further, bundled software such as McAfee – a security type program – will conflict with any security program you may already have installed on your laptop or PC.

Prevent Unwanted Software Programs from Being Installed

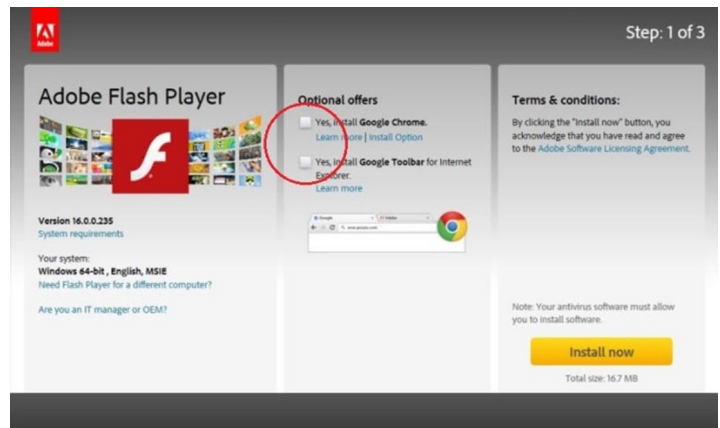

Adobe products such as Reader and Flashplayer are essential tools that most people use on a daily basis. If you need to read a PDF document, or visually see animations on web pages, these two software components are indispensable.

Like most software programs, however, periodic updates for Reader and Flashplayer are released. Depending upon how your laptop or PC was set up, these updates are either automatically applied, or you must manually approve, download, and install them.

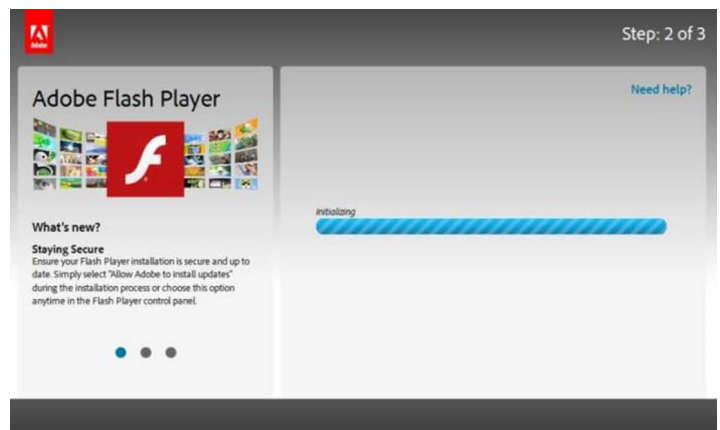

Here's what you need to watch for when you update Adobe products so you don't install any unwanted software:
Adobe Flash player: Watch for the "check boxes"

Be sure to "uncheck" the boxes before proceeding:

Once the boxes are unchecked, simply select the "Install now" button

Adobe Reader: Watch for the “check boxes”

Be sure to “uncheck” any boxes before proceeding:

As the illustrations above show, there are various offers so its important to take your time while installing updates for software like Adobe Flash player and Reader.

We hope this information helps, and we'll be certain to offer some more PC tips again soon!

Jim's Tips and Tidbits

—Jim Kelly

Back around 1978 when I was working at Model Railroader magazine, editor Russ Larson got a call from a gentleman who wanted to come in and demonstrate running the N scale Clinchfield project railroad with a computer. This kind of thing was quite interesting to Russ, as before coming to MR he had studied at the Milwaukee School of Engineering and worked for Collins Radio. Gordon Odegard knew a little about electronics but the rest of us were pretty much clueless.

The fellow arrived early one morning and spent four or five hours under the layout. This was before the advent of home computers and he was mostly setting DIP switches in an open-frame contraption. Mid-afternoon we gathered for the demo. A pair of Trix F-units started out slowly with about a 20-car coal train and gradually accelerated. It went faster and faster and then it was going way, way too fast. Gordy, who had invested his heart in the railroad, looked especially horrified. Finally the train started to slow and came to a stop, much to everyone's relief. Then, horror of horrors, it did the same thing over again, only in reverse!

Over the years new and smaller model railroading scales were introduced, from O to HO to N to Z. Each contributed much to model railroading because they allowed enjoying the hobby in less space. What contributed most to this trend was the evolution of small motors, adopted from other technologies.

Ever wonder why Amtrak can't run trains at over 200 miles an hour? Some model railroaders do it all the time.

OWN THIS UNIQUE CAR

The Fox Valley Division of the NMRA offers a unique refrigerator car kit in HO scale. It is based on an original design by the late Master Model Railroader Don Cook. Cook Orchards was a major industry on Don's Great Northern Railway Spokane Division layout and he had many of these cars in service moving apples from the Washington State orchards to the storage facility

This is an Accurail kit made in the USA and the artwork faithfully replicates Don's original design. The kit includes decals for road numbers 100 through 156. The cars sell for $23 per car. Shipping and handling within USA: $7.50 - one car; $14 - 2 to 4 cars. Money order or check payable to: Fox Valley Division, NMRA. Please send orders to: Fox Valley Division Car Project, c/o Charles Rita, 331 Florence Avenue, Evanston, IL 60202. For more details, visit www.foxvalleydivision.org. For questions or international orders, contact website@foxvalleydivision.org
